

A mathematical model for the behavior of heat-shrinkable thin films

Pavel Bèlik
Department of Mathematics
Augsburg College, Minneapolis
email: belik@augsborg.edu

In collaboration with 3M, we have developed a mathematical model for the behavior of heat-shrinkable thin films after they are subjected to non-uniform temperature distributions. We will present the necessary background information, describe an experiment to provide the qualitative as well as quantitative understanding of the heat-shrinking phenomenon, describe the mathematical model, and provide computational results.

Collaborators: M. Shvartsman (UST); C. Thomas and B. Jennings (3M)